

COX READY FOR WEST, ROOSEVELT IN EAST

Moore Hies Away To Chicago To Represent the Governor In Campaign Investigation

Columbus, O., Sept. 2.—With E. H. Moore, Governor Cox's pre-convention manager, in Chicago ready to furnish the Senate campaign investigating committee with alleged documentary data given him by Gov. Cox intended to back up the Democratic presidential candidate's charge that a $15,000,000 campaign fund had been raised by the republicans, the Governor himself is working today to clear up the state business before starting on the 9,000-mile swing into 22 north and western states. His itinerary calls for 67 addresses, an average of two daily, not including impromptu speeches.

The tour opens Friday in Michigan. Monday he will speak at the Minnesota State Fair. The Governor will return to Ohio on October 8. A trip to Kentucky and other southern states is to be made in October.

While Gov. Cox is in the west, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice presidential candidate, will campaign in the east.

MINES TIED UP; MORE MEN GOING OUT

Washington, Sept. 2.—The tie-up of 52 collieries in the hard coal fields in the 9th District of Pennsylvania, with 28 working a reduced personnel, is reported today, according to Department of Labor advice. As to the "vacation" the walkout in that region was caused by the miners' dissatisfaction over the anthracite coal commission's wage award.

The ship has been recently dismantled.

SEARCH FOR FUGITIVE

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 2.—Chief of Detectives DeForester today announced he was aiding a squad of city officers in the resumed search in the South Park vicinity for bandits who yesterday slugged, robbed, bound and gagged A. J. Karsner, president of the Louisville Automobile company. The bandits ran to the hills after abandoning the Karsner automobile, which was stolen. A posse of county officers vainly searched all last night for the fugitive.

Once Famous Sculptor Is Now Serving Beer

London, Sept. 2.—Scotland McLure, the sculptor, whose bronze statue of King George in coronation robes now stands in Madras, has given up his art and is now a waiter in a beer hotel at Kingston. The extension of the demand of Americans for busts and the diminution of the English demand so reduced his income that it was insufficient for his day to day needs. He declares the tips he receives in his present job give him a more comfortable living. McLure's handiwork adorns parks, squares, and public places throughout the British empire.

MOORE NOT HEARD; COMMITTEE ADJOURNS

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Sept. 2.—The Senate campaign investigating committee adjourned at noon without hearing Edmund Moore, Governor Cox's personal representative. Chairman Kenyon announced the committee would meet at Chicago Tuesday to hear Moore and other witnesses.

Moore declared if Republican Treasurer Upham told the truth in giving the republican campaign figures, there was another campaign fund in existence. He intends to find it and give it to the committee.

Senator Poinexter, of Washington, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Committee, told the committee it was planned to raise $200,000 for Senatorial campaigns and he expected to make a fight in his home state.

UNION CITY REVIVAL CLOSED SUNDAY NIGHT

The revival meeting at Union City held by Gould A. Leitchlitter, M. A., D. B., minister of the Adelaide Street Baptist church, London (Ontario), closed Sunday night and was conceded to be one of the most successful revivals held there for many years.

There were 11 additions to the church, ten of which were by baptism.

Rev. Leitchlitter delivered one of the best sermons Saturday night that had been heard for many a day on "Three Fools and the Fourth." His discourses were strong and forceful. His hearers showed their appreciation by presenting him with an offering of $212.75.

Rev. Leitchlitter is an unusual singer of gospel songs and has won wide esteem.

TO APPLY TARTARIA WITHIN THREE WEEKS

When the county is ready for the work of placing tartaria on the highways, the city will be ready and the tartaria will be at hand. This information came from Councilman Charles Terrill, of the street committee of the city council, and he knows whereof he speaks. He has promised a number of progressive citizens sufficient tartaria for street improvement work and has seen to it that the tartaria will be delivered. It will be sent to Richmond soon, and the work will doubtless be under way some time in this month. The tartaria and the machine for applying it will arrive when the officials say "ready" and the work for the city and county will be done at the same time. This will necessitate but one shipment and one visit to the city being made by the outfit. The work will be finished in time for its "setting" before the arrival of fall and winter rains, and, it is said, will be more beneficial when applied at this season of the year. There will be considerable improvement within the city limits and many of the county residents are asking that it be placed upon the pikes.

Will Not Collaborate With Bolsheviks, Dr. Says

(By Associated Press)
Berlin, Sept. 2.—Dr. Walter Simons, Foreign Minister, told the Reichstag yesterday that he had been asked to collaborate with the Russian Bolsheviks against the Western Powers as a means of breaking the bonds imposed by the treaty of Versailles, but after mature reflection he rejected the proposal because "if we followed these exhortations, Germany would immediately become the theatre of war and Bolshevism would be disastrous to her."

HIGH SCHOOLS OF COUNTY OPEN MONDAY

Very Able Faculty Is Now Assured For All and School Board Is Highly Pleased

All is in readiness for the opening of the county schools next week and the call to the instructors at the various institutions has been issued. The new laws governing school attendance will be in effect this year for the first time. Improvements have been made at several of the buildings and they will be in good condition for occupancy. A good list of instructors has been provided for each institution and conditions are favorable for a most successful term. There will doubtless be many students out at first, owing to the special permission law being taken advantage of extensively as a result of the tobacco harvest. There will be new furniture and cloak and reception rooms in some of the buildings as a result of the extensive improvement work. Moving pictures features are contemplated another year and there will be special music this year. Special time and study will be given over to this important feature which is becoming more and more important each year.

Paris B. Akin, who has been busily engaged with the supervision of some of the schools as well as the attendance proposition, which position he held until the advent of the new law, and recently resigned, will have charge of the Union City school, one of the most important in the county.

W. B. Elder, an educator of note and considerable experience, will have charge of the Waco schools. This is recognized as one of the most progressive and successful attendance centers in Madison county.

The instruction work and principalship of the Newby schools will be under the direction of Miss Marie Quillen, who comes well recommended, while that of the Kirksville school will be under the guidance of J. F. Fitzgerald, another instructor of recognized ability.

It is believed the faculty at the county high schools this term is the most capable obtained for some time, and some excellent records are anticipated. There has been a big influx of students, owing to the advancement of the large number of students from the lower grades who graduated some time ago and enter the high schools for the first time.

Women May Serve As Election Clerks At Danville

Women voters will probably be pressed into service at Danville as election clerks, was the announcement made by Sheriff Farris. With four additional precincts in the city, there is a scarcity of male clerks and the women appear to offer the only solution of the election commissioners' problem.

AUTO IS STOLEN; LOCAL RECORD LOW

Few Machines Missing Compared To Other Localities, When Number Is Considered

W. C. West, of Speedwell, was in the city Wednesday looking for a man, or rather three men, who purloined his automobile Tuesday night, the theft not being discovered until late Wednesday. The machine was taken from his barn and a number of neighbors saw the machine driven away, but presumed it was Mr. West. There were a number also who passed the auto which, they assert, contained three men, and all report that when they were in close proximity, the driver turned off the lights and appeared to be doing some repair work. This, it is believed, was done for the purpose of preventing their recognizing the license number. It is first automobile stolen from that place during the year, and this about the fact that Richmond has been extremely fortunate, according to reports from other cities, since there have been few reported stolen. One recently reported missing, was found within the confines of the county where it had doubtless been driven by wayward youngsters, and recovered.

Last year there were, according to the records of the county, more automobiles stolen than ever before or since. The precautionary measures taken by many may be a help, however, the number reported is far below the average for cities the size of Richmond. Some owners are provided with special locks and when cars are left for any considerable time, especially at night, these are used.

It is said by dealers, as well as owners, that considering the large number of automobiles in use in Madison county, the records for the entire county, when compared with other counties, will show an unusually small number of machines having been stolen.

WOMAN HANDLES BIG SCHOOL WORK

Mrs. B. F. Edwards Proves Very Able Assistant During Illness of Her Husband

While Ben F. Edwards, Superintendent of the county schools, is confined to his room as a result of the flu, the business at his office is not suffering, since Mrs. Edwards is in charge and is handling the business like a veteran. She will give information regarding any of the schools, the teachers, the manner in which the supervisors are working, and details regarding anything in the way of county school information desired.

Mrs. Edwards has had experience in the office before, and while she admits she has the "busiest school in the county" right at her home, she will remain in official duty the remainder of the year, since she will be assistant county superintendent.

The work since the opening of the schools and the new law calling for truancy officers and such have added greatly to the duties of the office and it was found necessary to have an aid, especially since the illness of Mr. Edwards.

The beginning of the county high schools next week adds to the importance of the duties of the office at this time and this also is being looked after by Mrs. Edwards.

It develops that the Newby school, although the official start was to have been made next week, has been opened, and there is a big attendance. There is a goodly number of students and indications are that the institution will be even a busier place when those students now absent with permission, resume their studies.

The condition of Mr. Edwards is improving in such a manner that his return to the office is predicted by the last of this week or the first of next. Mrs. Edwards receives reports from the various schools as well as the principals in charge, and "has a line" on the work that is being done. She is proving quite efficient, according to the members of the board, and will doubtless prove a valuable aid in the official work.

DR. M'DOUGLE AT CHARLESTON

Dr. E. C. McDougale, dean of Eastern Normal, who is conducting an institute for teachers at Charleston, W. Va., this week, is making a decided hit, according to reports issuing from that city, there having been many references through the daily papers regarding his efficient and modern method of carrying on the sessions and the instructions at the same. The following is from the Charleston Daily Mail, treating upon his address at one of the meetings:

The "Teacher's Five Fits," was the subject of an address made the Kanawha county teachers' institute in the auditorium of the Charleston high school building, by Dr. E. C. McDougale, dean of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, Richmond. His address featured the morning session of the meeting, which adjourned at noon, reconvening at two o'clock.

The "fits" outlined by Dr. McDougale were, physical fitness, academic fitness, professional, cultural and religious fitness. Speaking of each he made several practical suggestions for the teachers. He advocated above all else pure food and ample sleep, a high school education for all teachers, professional training of teachers corresponding to that of lawyers and physicians, travel, good reading, music, art, and other broadening influences, and enough religion to believe in a Creator.

In conclusion, Dr. McDougale recited an original poem, written in 1908. This poem had been frequently reprinted in various papers throughout the country and is entitled, "God and Nature."

(By Associated Press)
Warsaw, Sept. 2.—The Bolshevik army of General Budenny, the noted cavalry leader, was annihilated during the operations in the Lemberg sector between August 29, and September 1, says a Polish official communiqué issued today. Budenny's mounted men endeavored to break through the Polish lines to Lublin and nearly completed the encircling movement against Zamosz, when they were outflanked by the Poles. IRVINE'S POPULATION JUMPS TO 2,705

Bell County Also Shows Decided Increase While Grant Loses By a Wide Margin

Due to the development of oil fields in this section of the state, there has been remarkable increases in population in various localities, Estill county being among the foremost, Irvine showing a gain 849.5 per cent, according to the census returns for the last decade. The population for 1920 is 2,705, as compared to 272 in 1910 and 260 in 1900. There are a few instances where this percentage of population has been surpassed; however, they are few, and characterize the army attracted by the discovery of oil and the pursuance of the game of developing it.

Oil is doing for Kentucky what it has done for many other states, namely, Indiana, Illinois, Oklahoma, Texas and others. The population in some instances has proven to be more permanent than anticipated. In some localities there have been better home, better school facilities and general prosperity, and advantages given the most lowly, when this world's goods are concerned. Oil makes no distinction between rich and poor. Its presence may be found within the confines of the unfenced, dilapidated hill home, or the palatial residence yard in or near the city.

Bell county, in the Eastern Kentucky coal fields, has increased 19.5 per cent. The population is 33,988, an increase of 5,541 over the population of 28,447 in 1910. In the 1900 count there was 15,701. Between 1900 and 1920 the increase was 81.2 per cent.

Grant county decreased 146, or 1.4 per cent. The 1920 population is 10,435. In 1910 it was 10,581, a decrease of 20.1 per cent from the population of 13,239 in 1900.

JOHN EMBRY ESCAPES WHILE GUARD SLEEPS

About the time John Embry, of Estill county, charged with the slaying of Luther Young on July 4, was able to leave the hospital at Lexington, the special guard who was left to watch him fell asleep and John vanished. Nothing has been seen or heard of him since, although there has been a search made covering several counties.

Embry and Young, who are said to have been friends up till the time of the trouble, are known to have been neighbors, and went out to celebrate the Fourth of July. Each is said to have had a pistol, and they were possessed of a quantity of whiskey. Shooting is said to have followed their excursion into another part of the neighborhood, and both were taken to a hospital at Lexington seriously wounded. Young suffered for some time, dying of the wounds received. Embry fought for his life week after week and survived. It was when he had recovered sufficiently to be removed from the hospital that the guard was procured. The latter slept. Embry died.
